WE BELIEVE

THAT IF THE FAMILY IS HEALTHY OUR COMMUNITY WILL THRIVE.

KYCC—Koreatown Youth and Community Center—was established in 1975 to support a growing population of at-risk youth in Los Angeles. Today, KYCC is the leading multiservice organization in Koreatown, supporting children and their families in the areas of education, health, housing and finances. KYCC is committed to making Koreatown a safe and beautiful place to live and work. The mission of KYCC is to serve the evolving needs of the Korean American population in the greater Los Angeles area as well as the multiethnic Koreatown community. KYCC’s programs and services are directed toward recently immigrated, economically disadvantaged youth and families, and promote community socioeconomic empowerment.
Dear Friends,

Our 40th anniversary is a time to reflect and gather perspective on where we came from, and what lessons we have learned. We are tremendously proud of the strong foundation that our dedicated staff has built.

KYCC—Koreatown Youth and Community Center—had modest beginnings. In 1975, we started as an Asian American Drug Abuse Program (AADAP) outreach project to the growing Korean American population in Los Angeles. KYCC had one substance abuse prevention program for Korean youth and one staff member.

We have made remarkable progress over the past four decades. Today, KYCC has over 25 programs at six locations, and we serve thousands of clients in Koreatown and Greater Los Angeles each year.

Our diverse staff of 85—mostly bilingual, some trilingual—provide reliable, quality programs for the multiethnic community that we serve and support.

Even though we have grown and matured as an organization, we have never wavered from our original mission: to serve the evolving needs of disadvantaged children and their families in Koreatown. As our neighborhood continues to transform and develop, it reaffirms our dedication to assisting residents with the highest needs.

We’d like to thank our wonderful board, staff, donors, volunteers and community partners for helping us make KYCC the oldest and largest multiservice Korean American organization. We look forward to continuing our growth and transformation together.

Sincerely,

Francis Park
KYCC Board President

Johng Ho Song
KYCC Executive Director
The Korean Youth Center was founded in 1975, as a project of the Asian American Drug Abuse Program (AADAP). At the time we only had one full-time staff member and a handful of volunteers. Today, the Koreatown Youth and Community Center has six locations across Koreatown, and a diverse, multilingual staff of 85.

OUR HISTORY

As we celebrate 40 years of service to the Koreatown community, we wanted to share how your generous support has impacted our agency and the community.
“It was the beginning of a surge of Korean immigrants. Korean immigrant kids were latchkey kids, as both parents were out working or tending the shop, and the kids were home for long hours by themselves. They were isolated in schools because most of them didn’t speak fluent English. No one knew for sure if there was a drug abuse problem in the Korean community, but they saw the signs and said it was a breeding ground for problems. If it wasn’t an intervention issue, it became a prevention and education issue.”

“KYCC has been a pioneering organization in the greater Los Angeles area and beyond. Over 40 years, we have steadfastly addressed the needs of Korean Americans and the entire community in the Koreatown area, where we have become the premier multiservice nonprofit.”

—FRANCIS PARK, KYCC BOARD PRESIDENT (2014 –TODAY)

TODAY

Since our Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program began, KYCC has served nearly 30,000 low-income families throughout Los Angeles with our free tax preparation services, returning more than $27.5 million in refunds back to our community.
HONORING COOKE SUNOO

To commemorate our 40th anniversary, KYCC unveiled a Wall of History at our Wilton Center location. The 7’ x 7’ printed stainless steel photomontage honored Cooke Sunoo, a KYCC founder, former board president and community advocate, who worked tirelessly for decades to edify Koreatown.

Many longtime supporters of KYCC—founders, past and present board members, and staff—were present at the event. We are grateful to Grace Min, of Los Angeles-based Asterisk, who designed the photomontage, comprised of dozens of KYCC photos from 1975 to the present.
VOLUNTEERS

Our steady corps of community volunteers are integral to KYCC. These passionate individuals are planting trees, filing tax returns, tutoring elementary and middle school students, and coaching small business owners in the community.

I have a lot of ideas on how to enhance our neighborhood. I volunteer with KYCC as part of a neighborhood committee that gathers data. I ask my neighbors questions like “What do you think of your environment? How often do you see trash? What type of trash is it? Are you satisfied with this environment?” I want to see a revitalized Koreatown with a better quality of life.

—CHARLES LIMM, KYCC VOLUNTEER

This year 1,081 volunteers gifted KYCC with 38,213 hours.
When Nayon Kang and her family first emigrated from Korea in 1984, they moved to Los Angeles’s Koreatown. The neighborhood moms told her mother, “Enroll your kids in school, and enroll your kids in KYCC.” Little did Mrs. Kang know, it would be a life-changing decision for her daughter.

Every day, after first grade at Hoover Elementary School, Nayon would walk to KYCC, which was then located on the second story of a strip mall at Normandie and Wilshire. As she grew older, Nayon moved into the middle school after-school programs—tobacco prevention, youth clubs and “a girl power group.” She learned about Korean American history and planted trees with our Environmental Services program. While driving through Koreatown, she still sometimes passes trees that she planted in the 1980s.

Even in high school, when her family briefly moved away from Koreatown, Nayon returned for KYCC’s summer programs. She vividly recalls the annual camping trips to Oxnard. “It was literally on the beach!” she recalls. “It was the first time for me—and for a lot of kids my age—to go camping. It was the first time that I was away from home for several days...of course, it was with KYCC!”

At the time, KYCC’s high school programs provided her with free SAT classes, teen theater and an anti-graffiti program. Through our arts enrichment programs, she painted a historical mural in Koreatown called “Sounds of Korea” and took up photography.

Nayon went on to attend UCLA for her undergraduate and graduate degrees, but again found herself at KYCC during her summer and winter breaks. She was hired as a counselor for Summer Day Camp and remembers manning a bean bag toss at one of KYCC’s earliest Holiday Carnivals.

In 2007, she was working at a mental health agency when some of her old colleagues told her about an open position at KYCC. “It reignited me. I put ‘KYCC raised me’ in my cover letter,” Nayon said. “I wanted to give back. I’m a product of KYCC and I’m grateful.”

Today, Nayon is KYCC’s Assistant Director of Children and Family Services. Prior to this position, she was the Clinical Services Manager, providing support and guiding clinicians, case managers and interns. Her role in the community is also expanding; in 2014, Nayon was named a Magnolia Community Initiative Fellow, helping to build capacity for more than 70 county, city and community agencies to create a safe and supportive environment for 35,000 children.

“Destiny has a bigger plan for you,” she says of her 25-plus years at KYCC. “I was always appreciative, but it was a higher calling that brought me back. I never felt at home anywhere else than at KYCC.”
I wanted to give back to the agency that raised me. I’m a product of KYCC and I’m grateful.

— NAYON KANG, KYCC ASSISTANT DIRECTOR
“My daughters both attended KYCC’s preschool, Kids Town. Brigid was three when she enrolled and Morgan was two and a half. It was a wonderful experience for them—they were placed in separate classrooms, but they got to see each other throughout the day. Both of my girls loved going there—they had positive, trusting relationships with the teachers. They grew socially and academically while they were there.

Everyone at the school has a genuine love for the kids. Kids Town has vegetable gardens, outside play areas, inside reading, pretend play, and music areas for dancing. They offer parent involvement and education courses in the evenings and holiday events throughout the year. The preschool serves two hot meals and several snacks throughout the day, and that really saves a lot of time and money on packing meals.

The preschool employs a mixed approach to early childhood education, instead of one type of educational philosophy, and the learning is play-based, so my girls were enthusiastically engaged and learning every day.

In addition, my youngest daughter has hearing loss and cochlear implants. Kids Town was very helpful integrating services for her, so she could participate just like all the other kids.

Even after the girls graduated from Kids Town, we decided to send them to the Summer Day Camp. Familiarity was a major factor. The hours and location were good, and the price was competitive to other camps, with much more personal attention and of course, the KYCC love that is so great. The field trips were also wonderful. But it was the friendliness and inclusivity that were very important to me.

As a whole, we have a lot of trust for KYCC.”

—Chandra, Kids Town and Summer Day Camp Parent
“I’ve worked at KYCC for 22 years. I graduated from the Asian American Drug Abuse Program (AADAP) in 1992, and I was in the process of looking for a job when Jimmy Sung (former Environmental Services Manager) told me about KYCC. I put in my resume and within a week, they hired me. Through working at KYCC, I was able to save money to get my own apartment, a car and open a bank account. A year after I started working here, I got married—we have four kids. I’ve also been working part time at AADAP for the past seven years as a drug and alcohol counselor; I got certified in December 2014 and I oversee around 25 program clients. Both KYCC and AADAP have been really good to me.

I’ve worked in the recycling, graffiti removal, water conservation and tree planting programs at KYCC. Doing field work in the water conservation program in the 1990s, we installed up to 70 low-flush toilets a day, and the program hit a million mark in 2000! That’s a lot of water saved, especially in this drought. I learned a lot about plumbing, which built my expertise in sprinkler systems and irrigation.

Since the tree planting program began at KYCC, I’ve personally planted around 15,000 trees.

I spend 80 percent of my time driving around Koreatown. I’ve seen a lot of growth, a lot of apartment buildings going up. There’s all this trash on the streets—if it’s not picked up, it goes straight to the ocean. People need to be informed that we all need to take care of our community.

I like working here because KYCC helps people. We work with people and the community. Starting a new life, I wanted to give back to the community and be a part of society.”

—Tommy Rendon, Environmental Specialist
2014-15 MILESTONES

KOREATOWN ENVIRONMENT REPORT RELEASED

In Aug. 2014, KYCC released the Koreatown Environmental Report, which examined three environmental areas—parks, trees and food—that have a direct impact on the health and well-being of Koreatown residents. Emely Lopez (top right), a KYCC Environmental Summer Intern and a student in Environmental Studies at the University of California, Santa Cruz, led the project, based on research she and other interns conducted in the summers of 2013 and 2014.

LOS ANGELES DODGERS CLINIC

The Los Angeles Dodgers came to Seoul International Park’s Dodgers’ Dream Field in Aug. 2014 to give a free baseball clinic to KYCC youth. Former Dodgers Al Downing, Al Ferrara and Tim Leary gave tips to the young ballplayers on running bases, hitting and pitching, thanks to L.A. City Council President Herb Wesson, who connected us to the Dodgers Foundation.

DUNN-EDWARDS PAINTS WILTON CENTER

The Dunn-Edwards Corporation generously provided their design expertise, their highest-quality paint and paint supplies, and the services of a local contractor—Master Company—to refresh the interior and exterior of KYCC’s Wilton Center and Wilton Family Apartments. The Dunn-Edwards donation amounted to over $30,000 of service and materials, which included 229 gallons of paint.

BANNING PUBLIC ALCOHOL ADVERTISING

As part of the Alcohol Justice coalition, KYCC’s Prevention Education advocated for a ban on alcohol advertising on city property, including buses and bus shelters. The ordinance, co-authored by L.A. Councilmembers Paul Koretz and Jose Huizar, will minimize exposure of alcohol advertising to children and youth, and help to discourage underage drinking.
KYCC AWARDED MAGNOLIA COMMUNITY INITIATIVE FELLOWSHIP

Nayon Kang, KYCC’s Clinical Services Manager, completed the Magnolia Community Initiative Fellowship, an eight-month learning and networking collaborative. MCI builds capacity for more than 70 county, city and community agencies to create a safe and supportive environment for 35,000 children who live in Magnolia Place’s 500-block radius in Los Angeles.

BLUE RIBBON COMMISSION ON MARIJUANA

In June 2015, KYCC Prevention Education Manager Mihae Jung joined Lieutenant Governor Gavin Newsom and ACLU’s Abdi Soltani in a public forum in Fresno as part of the Blue Ribbon Commission on Marijuana Policy. Mihae shared the community perspective on potential regulation issues in the event of marijuana legalization, and how it pertains to the Koreatown, Pico-Union and Westlake neighborhoods.

$50,000 GRANT FROM NATIONAL FISH AND WILDLIFE FOUNDATION

KYCC’s Environmental Services received a $50,000 grant from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation and Wells Fargo Environmental Solutions for Communities Program. The grant will be used towards creating an Urban Forestry Volunteer Leader Program, which will train local residents to lead tree plantings and tree care events in their communities.

VITA GRANT

Last October, KYCC was awarded the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance grant for the eighth year in a row! In 2015—our most successful year yet—VITA completed over 8,500 free tax returns that brought back nearly $10 million in total refunds to Los Angeles families. In addition, 189 volunteers contributed to this year’s efforts by working over 2,000 hours.

In the summer of 2014, Deborah Oh joined KYCC’s Environmental Services Youth Summer Program, which is a part of L.A. Mayor Garcetti’s Hire LA’s Youth Initiative. While most teens enjoyed lazy summer days sleeping in, she was up and at work by 6:30 a.m. and planting trees by 7:30 a.m. The days were hot, tiring and pushed each team members’ limits to stay positive. Within three months, Deborah and her team planted 600 trees in South Los Angeles.

Shortly after she had completed her summer job, Oh emailed KYCC to let them know how much she had been positively impacted. “I am so grateful to KYCC for providing me with the incredible opportunity to work with Environmental Services this summer,” she wrote. “Despite how hard the work was, I learned a lot about planting trees and getting to know new people. This summer job completely changed my view of life outside of my own community and motivated me to give back to the community more.”

Deborah donated all of her earnings back to KYCC—making her our youngest donor this year! Never having considered environmental and community-based work before, Oh says she is looking to major in an environmental field as an undergrad. She also started an eco-club at her high school, is in the process of planning tree planting projects for her community, and still finds time to volunteer with KYCC during the weekends!
Dr. Myung Ki “Mike” Hong came to the United States as an exchange student in 1954 and graduated from UCLA with a degree in chemistry in 1959. For several decades, Dr. Hong was employed in the automotive paint industry, but he recalls unrelenting discrimination at his work environment. So in 1986, at the urging of his wife, he founded his own company, Dura Coat Products, which went on to become one of the industry’s most innovative and respected resin and coating chemical companies.

The catalyst for his philanthropy was the civil unrest in Los Angeles in 1992. He founded the Bright World Foundation in 2001, pledging to help rebuild the Korean American community. KYCC was one of the foundation’s earliest recipients.

A few years later, Dr. Hong supported the Korean American Youth Conference, a KYCC event that brought together young Korean American leaders during the 2003 centennial of Koreans in America. Dura Coat has been a Title Sponsor at several KYCC annual “Fore Children and Families” Golf Classics, and this year, Dura Coat was the Title Sponsor for our 40th Anniversary Benefit Concert at The Music Center’s Walt Disney Concert Hall.

His sincere interest lies in building programs for disadvantaged youth. Over the last three years alone, Dr. Hong has donated over $100,000 for KYCC’s programs and services.

When asked why he has continued to support KYCC over the years, Dr. Hong’s remarks are to the point. “Simply, I like the work that KYCC does in the community.”
