OUR MISSION

KYCC (Koreatown Youth and Community Center) was established in 1975 to support a growing population of at-risk youth in Los Angeles. Today, KYCC is the leading multiservice organization in Koreatown, supporting children and their families in the areas of education, health, housing, community beautification and finances. KYCC is committed to making Koreatown a safe and beautiful place to live and work.

The mission of KYCC is to serve the evolving needs of the Korean American population in the greater Los Angeles area as well as the multiethnic Koreatown community. KYCC's programs and services are directed toward recently immigrated, economically disadvantaged youth and families, and promote community socioeconomic empowerment.

DEAR FRIENDS OF KYCC,

Despite great efforts in outreach and education, there still remains a huge stigma in the Koreatown community in receiving mental health services. The majority of our neighborhood's population is Mexican, Central American and Korean, and the reasons for difficulty in seeking counseling services are manifold, starting with cultural and linguistic barriers.

Stigma is embedded in our community because mental health is tied to the family. Many believe that if someone in the family is suffering from a mental health issue, it should remain a private matter. Families tend to avoid or hide these conditions until they become severe and can no longer be handled without professional help. Clinicians refer to this as a "crisis point"—and at this late juncture, intervention and counseling becomes much more difficult.

Sixty-eight percent of Koreatown residents are foreign born. Mental health social services, if even offered in their home countries, can be vastly different from what we offer in the U.S. It can be very daunting for those families—many of whom are not fluent in English—to navigate ways to receive help.

KYCC has provided counseling services since 1979. Today, our Clinical Services has 19 staff members—13 of whom are Master's-level clinicians. All of our counselors are bilingual in Korean or Spanish—our cultural and linguistic competence is the hallmark of our program.

This year, KYCC launched a community-wide trilingual mental health awareness campaign. #KYCCCAN-HELP was comprised of two large-scale mural projects and a poster campaign in Koreatown. This project was made possible through funding by the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health and the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services, and by our cross-community collaborations with our past and present KYCC clients, schools and local business partners.

Our trilingual tagline—"It's okay to reach out," "Extiende la mano y busca ayuda," and "손을 잡으세요"—underscores the importance of talking about and seeking assistance for any mental health condition, large or small.

At KYCC, we believe that the health of the community starts in the family. We are also increasing our focus on prevention. Our multiservice agency offers over two dozen programs that promote education, self-care, family bonding, financial independence, substance use education, community beautification and activism. By strengthening children, families and our community before crises balloon, we deter the escalation of greater mental health, domestic and social issues through early intervention and proper referrals to our network of providers.

Our mission has always been to serve the evolving needs of our Koreatown community. As the importance of mental health of our children and families becomes more and more apparent, we are committed to providing access to the education and services needed to transform the health and stability of our residents.

Sincerely,

JOHN HO SONG
Executive Director

OUR AGENCY

Over the past year, KYCC expanded to NINE locations across Koreatown and Central Los Angeles. Our Community Economic Development programs moved into a new office in the KOA Building on Sixth Street, which is also the site of our expanded Clinical Services and the new Recovery Services clinic, which is the first state-certified outpatient substance abuse program in Koreatown.

KYCC OPENS VINTAGE SOUL

KYCC launched a social enterprise project, Vintage Soul, a curated secondhand and vintage boutique in the heart of Koreatown. Specializing in iconic and one-of-a-kind items, Vintage Soul creates a sustainable retail experience that promotes social good and gives back to the Koreatown community. All proceeds from Vintage Soul will help fund KYCC's youth programs. The boutique, the first of its kind in the area, celebrates the energy, history, style and spirit of Koreatown—the very soul of the neighborhood. The Grand Opening on March 12, 2019 was attended by over 100 people.

#KYCCCANHELP

KYCC, Studio Number One & Milk Tavern Unveil Mural

As part of KYCC's efforts to spread mental health awareness in the Koreatown community, our Clinical Services partnered with graphic design firm Studio Number One and local business Milk Tavern on a large trilingual mural in Koreatown. The "#KYCCCANHELP" mural is in English, Spanish and Korean on the south-facing wall of the popular dessert shop Milk Tavern. The design is based on the #KYCCCANHELP poster campaign that launched in October 2018 in honor of World Mental Health Day.

"I was definitely meant to do this project," said RFX1, an artist who painted a mural at Los Angeles High School in April 2019, as part of KYCC's trilingual mental health awareness campaign. The mural, funded by the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health, was a collaboration between L.A. High and the Korean Integrated Services Management (KISM) program at KYCC.

As a young child and teenager, RFX1 struggled with his mental health after a heavy garage door fell on his head when he was a toddler. Later, he realized this traumatic injury led to severe migraines throughout elementary school and as a teen, he received counseling and mental health treatment services at KYCC.

Now an artist working in a style he calls "Vision Pop," RFX1 has worked on various murals across Los Angeles, enlightening the city with his colorful, retro and anime-infused style of art.

Returning to KYCC as an artist, RFX1 says, was "coming full circle." During the weeklong span it took to paint the community mural, twenty students from Los Angeles High helped to complete the project and participated in a group discussion about adolescent mental health.

Finding inspiration from astrology, numerology, and metaphysics, RFX1 continues to paint and make art that illustrates the human experience.

WCKNC Helps Fund KYCC Summer Day Camp Tuition

The Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council (WCKNC) awarded KYCC a "Neighborhood Purposes Grant" of $5,000 to help a group of 15 K-5th Grade students attend our Summer Day Camp 2019 tuition-free. The group of students chosen to receive aid to attend the camp were formerly homeless and low-income, and their transportation costs to and from the camp site for the eight-week duration of the program were covered.

Since the legalization of cannabis in late 2016, KYCC Prevention Education has taken steps to educate Koreatown youth and adults about marijuana and its effects. Prevention Education's primary mission is to reduce marijuana use among 12-17 year-olds, and in the past year, our team has hosted various events and workshops to achieve this objective.

In May 2019, KYCC hosted its first-ever Cannabis Educational Forum with the Coalition for Prevention & Awareness in Los Angeles Metro (CoPALM). At this free event, local residents had the opportunity to speak with service providers and legislative officials about the impact of cannabis on their community.

“IT WAS EVERYTHING I ASKED FOR. PLUS MORE...I WAS SO OVERWHELMED WITH HAPPINESS AND A SENSE OF THIS IS WHERE I’M SUPPOSED TO BE.”

“I have been living at Menlo since 2013,” said Soweto, a current resident at the Menlo Family Apartments. “When I saw my apartment, I literally cried. It was everything I asked for. Plus more. I even got a balcony. I was so overwhelmed with happiness and a sense of this is where I’m supposed to be. He delivered. I moved in immediately. I don’t want to be anywhere else.”

Born and raised in Koreatown, Soweto grew up visiting Korean markets, eating KBBQ and banchan since she was a little girl. These early culinary experiences made a deep impression on her and she started cooking when she was 20.

One day, Soweto talked to KYCC staff about her dream of starting a food nonprofit. Together, over the next few months, they created a career plan for Soweto.

Today, Soweto is a first-year student at Los Angeles Trade Technical College’s Culinary Arts program. She is working hard in the kitchen and classroom, working towards her dream of a culinary future. In 2019, Soweto started teaching Menlo Family Apartments middle school and high school students how to make healthy after-school snacks.

Soweto’s class and cooking demonstrations were a success with the Menlo community. In 2020, her class is expanding to a weekend culinary program for Menlo Family Apartments youth and their caregivers.

“[THIS SCHOLARSHIP] IS PLANTING A LITTLE SEED THAT WILL GROW INTO A BIG OAK TREE.”

“I was encouraged by my father to apply to college,” said David Hyun, the third-generation Korean American benefactor behind the 2019 Jump Start Scholarship. “Never in a million years did I ever conceive that I would end up with three degrees.”

Hyun attests that his higher education opened many doors for him. Through his generosity and dedication to KYCC, he created three scholarships to be awarded to a graduating high school senior who would be attending a four-year college or university in the fall.

In order to apply for the Jump Start Scholarship, students were only required to write a short essay with the simple prompt: Why I Want to Go to College.

Hyun considered Jump Start to be “planting a little seed that will grow into a big oak tree.” He saw this initiative as an opportunity to have “an orchard of great big oak trees.”

Daniel Choi (Larchmont Charter School, UCLA), Kevin Park (John Marshall High School, UC Davis) and Esther Jung (Hamilton High School, Wellesley College) were the first proud recipients of this scholarship.

Friends, volunteers and supporters are a crucial part of our KYCC community. With the help and kindness of countless individuals such as David Hyun, our multiservice agency can continue to grow and thrive. If you would like to contribute to KYCC, please visit us at www.kyccla.org/donate.
